To choose an InterContinental destination for your special event is to opt for excellence and diversity. Our staff is ready and waiting to reveal the lesser known traditions and the splendor and beauty of the landscapes. Their insider knowledge and their impressive list of contacts ensure that you will visit memorable locations and enjoy unforgettable experiences.

Ensure that your event lives up to expectation with the help of an assigned planner, with the skills and imagination to captivate your participants and enhance your stay. These planners or organisers, experts in local culture, are both motivated and fascinating and eager to share their passion and their excellent list of addresses. A personalised introduction to the local customs and heritage makes for marvelous and long-lasting memories.

The very best way to really discover a new destination is to immerse oneself in local culture and tradition. Our project, created to enhance your meeting, also provides you with the opportunity to reach out to the local economy.

Activities are provided to facilitate team bonding and renew communications. Using the regional geography and local customs and traditions, these cohesive activities that can be organized on site or outdoors are sure to beguile all participants in the group and improve professional relations.

Insider Breaks ensure that even the coffee breaks can strengthen relationships. “Insider Breaks” are specially designed as gourmet breaks, where colleagues get a chance to give and take as they enjoy a coffee or just time out to sample local delicacies.
We believe that "eco responsible" meetings and conferences are not limited to the confines of our meeting rooms alone.

InterContinental® Hotels and Resorts Group has firmly chosen to continue sustaining corporate responsibility: acting at the source, acknowledging each hotel employee as an expert and using his/her skills and talents to foster team spirit and environmental initiatives.

Isabelle Moulin comes from a renowned family of silk-makers and artists. Her haute couture studies gave her the chance to work with Lolita Lempicka, Lanvin and others for some 10 years. Little by little, she was drawn to work for theatre, dance and the opera, entrusted with costumes and settings. From settings to museums, she gravitated to museography design which she now combines with her initial formation, specialising in silk, not just as a textile but also as part of the industrial heritage. In 2011, she created Silk me Back, an approach that closely allies heritage and more contemporary forms, using scientific, technical and artistic perspectives on silk and textiles.

From the outset, this novel approach has been greatly assisted by both the Hermès foundation and the textile and silk consortium of Lyon and the Auvergne Rhône-Alpes region. Numerous exhibitions and programmes in partnership with the ‘Musée des Tissus’ (textile museum), the Musée des Arts Asiatiques Guimet (Paris Oriental arts museum) and the Musée des Confluences in Lyon (Confluences museum) earned her the title of ‘Chevalier des Arts et des Lettres’, in 2017. Isabelle Moulin has developed her personal artistic perspective by creating narrative works to recount and explore in her own unique own way the Silk Roads of today, with their current and future variations.

Lyon, silk capital
a legend betwixt heritage and innovative technologies
Situated on the banks of the Rhône, the Grand Hôtel-Dieu is one of the gems of the city's architecture. Its stone façade has all the elegance of an edifice created by the architect Soufflot. Since its establishment as one of the first ever places of refuge built by the Frères pontifes (French bridge-building brotherhood), sometime around the year 1,000, centuries of extensions and embellishments have made it a superb and magnificent temple. In the 21st century, the Grand Hôtel-Dieu underwent a complete renovation that was completed in 2019. Discover the history of this superb building, right down to the technical expertise deployed in the renovations and of course Didier Repellin, Chief Architect of Historic Monuments, an ardent specialist of the Grand Hôtel-Dieu de Lyon and the architect who conducted its renovation and transformation.
Through environment friendly team building actions, such as collecting and sorting waste matter (recyclable materials, glass, cigarette butts, general waste and where necessary bulky waste, it is possible to raise awareness among employees of the proliferation of litter, and encourage all to take responsibility for the impact of pollution nowadays and its consequences on the environment.

Actions coupled with awareness-raising workshops explaining the problems linked to litter, encourage and promote awareness of the prevention and reduction of waste as well as the impact on the aquatic environment (water quality, drinking water, purification, 7th continent) and the biodiversity of watercourses (beaver, otter, etc...).
The story of the Grand Hôtel-Dieu de Lyon englobes 900 years of medical practice.

In order to maintain and preserve its history, research and innovation, we are offering you the opportunity to support the foundation of the Hospices Civils de Lyon.

The foundation was created to speed up the development of innovative projects within hospitals and promote increasingly personalised support and treatment of those participating.

It involves three areas:

- Greater comfort and better conditions for a hospital that is more and more human.
- More research and innovation for a greater number of cures.
- More support solutions for families offering them greater peace of mind.

1 euro collected and donated to lodgings and the study day.

Gastronomy is one of Lyon’s most renowned traditions. Enjoy the great taste of Lyonnaise cuisine for the space of a work break, lunch or dinner. Stemming from centuries of tradition, the cuisine here is characterised by the use of local produce renowned for its quality: early vegetables, Bresse poultry, pike quenelles, crayfish from Nantua lake, fish from the Saône, Charolais meat and Beaujolais and Côtes-du-Rhône wines. Discover traditional, generous dishes and produce revisited in a contemporary and gourmet fashion by chef Mathieu Charrois: cervelle de canut cheese, K’nelle (quenelle dumplings) and pralin tarts.
