CHAMPAGNE & SPARKLING WINE

Champagne may be the most famous and revered of all the wines. Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier are the only grape varietals permitted in wines that carry the Champagne name and must have undergone secondary fermentation in bottle.

While Champagne may be the king of sparkling wines, there are still many producers the world over that produce outstanding wines that provide great value. This also opens up many more exciting flavour profiles as winemakers are not restricted by law as to what grapes can be used in the production of these wines.

While in South Australia, trying a Sparkling Shiraz is always an interesting experience for the uninitiated.

WHITE WINE

Aromatic Whites

These wines tend to exhibit, as the classification will hint towards, outstanding aromatic qualities. While not a definitive list Riesling, Gewürztraminer, Pinot Gris (or Grigio) and Müller-Thurgau are widely regarded to fall into this category. These wines tend to be somewhat ignored in favour of the more well-known varietals, but prove to be excellent when pairing with Asian foods.

Chardonnay

Originating in Burgundy, Chardonnay is now grown in almost all wine producing countries. By itself the Chardonnay has relatively neutral flavours, though it gains many of its trademark aromas from the terroir in which it is grown, and (most influentially) the use of oak in its production.

To experience Chardonnay in a truly terroir driven style, look to the unoaked “gunflint” examples from Chablis in France. To enjoy your Chardonnay to its fullest, we recommend drinking at 10 degrees centigrade, slightly warmer than you would most other white wines.

Unoaked and Chablis Food matches: Oysters, Scallops, Pork, Brie Cheese

Oaked Food matches: Poultry or Seafood with rich creamy sauces

Other White Varietals

The world of wine provides many opportunities for experimentation. The white varietals contained in this section are not as widely represented on wines lists but offer some wonderful surprises for those wanting to expand their understanding of the world of wine.

2025	Bremerton	Langhorne Creek, SA	100% Fiano	750ml	$60
2023	John Duval “Plexus”	Barossa Valley, SA	41% Marsanne, 34% Roussanne, 25% Viognier	750ml	$69

RED WINE

Pinot Noir

Considered by many to be the connoisseurs' varietal of choice due to its complexity and subtle nuances. Generally, one can expect a light to medium bodied wine with cherry and raspberry aromas, combined with other fresh red berries. This can be complimented by farmyard aromas, especially from Burgundian and aged examples.

General food matches: Duck, Lamb, Mushrooms, Parmesan or Brie Cheeses

Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Bourdeaux Varieties

One of the most well-known wine blends made famous by the wines of Bordeaux. In France, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot are often blended with Cabernet Franc to create some of the world's most famous, expensive and best wines. Each varietal is used the world over either as single varietal wines or blended to different degrees with styles varying between country, appellation and winemaker.

General food matches: Beef, Coq au Vin, Gruyère or Morbier Cheese

Shiraz and Rhône Varietals

If you ask those residing a stone's throw from here, South Australia is the Shiraz capital of the world – Local examples are known the world over to pack a punch as they do not hold back... one could say they are unapologetically in your face.

Shiraz (or Syrah) is a powerful and full-bodied varietal that generally exhibits black pepper, violet and dark berry notes. Aged examples of this varietal often start to take on more earthy flavours of truffle and leather. While stunning as a single varietal wine, Shiraz is particularly effective when used as a blending grape, as most notably seen in France's Rhône Valley where (in Châteauneuf-du-Pape) up to 13 grapes can be used in the blend.

General food matches: Grilled and Braised Beef or Wild Game, Peppered Sauces, Cheddar or Blue Cheeses
